

Who is InSource Denver?

InSource Denver is a Denver-based, women-owned firm specializing in placing experienced, independent attorneys and paralegals with law firms, corporations and other organizations.

The principals of the company are Jill Hess and Anne Bye Rowe. They are responsible for managing all aspects of the firm's services including:

- Screening and recruiting qualified attorneys and paralegals to be part of InSource Denver's network of independent legal professionals.
- Identifying appropriate independent contractors to meet the client's legal needs.
- Providing biographies of qualified candidates to the client for review and then arranging interviews of those selected by the client.
- Providing detailed contractor work logs to the client and invoicing for work performed.
